

“Mark Roques is one of the most brilliant gospel communicators I know. He challenges, provokes and inspires us to find creative ways to share with others.”
Mark Russell, CEO, Church Army

A large, bold red triangle with a white interior is centered on the page. Inside the triangle, the word "Dangerous" is written in a smaller, black, sans-serif font, and the word "Faith" is written in a much larger, bold, black, sans-serif font. The background behind the triangle consists of blue, wispy, smoke-like patterns.

Dangerous Faith

Sharing the gospel with confidence and creativity

Five Wednesdays from 14th February 2017, Horsforth

thinkfaith.net/events

ThinkingFaithNetwork

Five practical workshops equipping you to share the gospel with confidence and creativity.

These workshops are not for 'natural evangelists', they are for ordinary Christians who aren't particularly brave.

Our goal is to equip you to talk naturally and winsomely about the Christian faith, in a way that gets people wanting to know more.

You will be challenged to improve your communication skills through telling stories and exploring how asking questions can help us to fulfil the Great Commission (Matthew 28:16-20).

The workshops are free, places are limited so book early to avoid disappointment. We want your feedback to develop the course.

Wednesdays, 14th February to

14th March 2017

19.30 - 21.30

2 Dale Villas, Horsforth, LS18 4JN

Free, booking essential (limited places).

Book at thinkfaith.net/events

Programme

From stories about... to conversations about Jesus and his kingdom.

14th February

The Duke of Edinburgh, Vinnie Jones and Maradona.

21st February

Fakirs, garlic worshippers and lottery winners.

28th February

Cannibals, high-tech evangelists and Queen Victoria.

7th March

Russian models, human traffickers and mafia hitmen.

14th March

Finding your stories for Christian communication.

Mark Roques is a storyteller and Director of RealityBites. Author of the acclaimed book The Spy, The Rat and the Bed of Nails, Mark has spoken in schools, churches and conferences around the world.

REALITYBITES

thinkfaith.net/realitybites